ELECTION DAY WAS PEACEFUL

Bay St. Louis and Balance Of County Report Day Unusually Quiet—Many Voted.

Election day in Bay St. Louis and over the county was reported most orderly and quiet and without the slightest untoward incident. No better group of election managers and clerks were ever selected. Mostly younger men, the business of voting was expedited in the quickest and most efficient manner and there were no delays nor interruptions.

In Bay St. Louis every beer and other cafes were, by mutual agreement, closed for the day and this contributed largely to the removal of the possibility of friction. We are indeed very proud of the manner in which the elections were held and the general decorum of the public throughout the day, even though voting in every one of the 22 precincts of the county was unusually heavy.

The corrupt practices act removes much of the cause that provokes trouble and unnecessary things that in the past generally occur on election day.

Newspaper Neon Sign Attracts Attention And General Praise.

The new business sign of The Sea Coast Echo, positioned aloft and in center of front of the Echo Bldg., now in position about ten days has attracted the attention of all passers-by, and opinion is unanimous to the effect it is one of the larger and handsomer signs in the city—of its kind. The public has been very kind in its expressions and lavish in their praise.

This sign is some 15 feet long and the letters, 10 inches high, and is a reproduction of the newspaper heading, in old English: "The Sea Coast Echo," with the word "Printing" above, "Newspaper," below. The letters in white are against a blue metal background. At night the lighted sign appears in a shade of blue that is vibrant, penetrating and soft to look at. There is no border around the outer edges of the big sign and that stands out in bold relief in the darkness of night.

Building Dining Room at Stanislaus College To Accommodate Increase

An addition to the dining room of St. Stanislaus College is being constructed to take care of the increased enrollment and visitors at the College. The building, when completed, will be attractive, located under several large oaks on the campus, and adjoining the main dining hall.

RESTAURANT CHECK.

The average check in one low-priced restaurant on the grounds of the New York World's Fair is 33 cents.

RETURNING A GOOD AND FAITHFUL SERVANT.

THE overwhelming vote given Clerk of the Courts A. G. Favre over the county in the primary elections Tuesday is indeed a tribute of deep worth and lasting value. That his fellowmen saw fit to give him a landslide victory is well a vote of confidence. No man could ask for more. The public could not have given better. It is telling and definite.

Clerk Favre values this highly. He is appreciative of the support and favor. Nothing he prizes more than the esteem and confidence which he enjoys at the hands of the people he serves. He strives ever to please; to do for one and for all, and that he has succeeded is well attested by Tuesday's figures. Fully efficient and capable he ever performs his best.

His administration to the duties of the office has been intelligently interpreted and his application thereto equal to the exacting demands.

It is refreshing to have men in the community who do much and who count for so much; who are doing for others year in and year out. It is satisfying and renews our confidence in mankind to note that the public is conscious of the fact and that they, when the opportunity presents itself, register their appreciation substantially and in terms conclusive.

It is also noteworthy that service rendered by men in public office who give unswervingly and unselfishly fully recognize such high type of citizenship and fortunate are we, indeed, that such men who serve the public are available and are willing to enlist for the public good. They are well high institutions of our country.

A. G. (Red) Favre has been re-elected by an overwhelming vote. He will be returned for another four-year term. Our people will continue the privilege of being served by one whose integrity and every act is unquestioned. And may we ask that the blessing of Providence be showered in the fullest extent and that the destinies of the office be not only conducted by the excellent judgment he has always evinced but that every auspice will be favorable and continue.

SUMMARY OF COUNTY ELECTION RESULTS IN HANCOCK LAST TUESDAY

Candidates For Clerk of Courts and Assessor Lead Ticket Nominated by Huge Majorities—Race For Sheriff And Supervisor, Beat 5, Narrows to Second Primary, August 29.

With twenty-two voting precincts over Hancock county, five of which are located in the city of Bay St. Louis, many votes were polled in Tuesday's first primary election for State, district, county and beat offices.

A. G. (Red) Favre, candidate for re-election clerk of courts, led the ticket over the entire county and was elected over his two opponents by an overwhelming majority. His total vote, unofficial, is 2150.

George Cuevas, candidate for re-election county assessor also developed a fine lead and was second in highest figures when results were counted, his total 2030, unofficial.

The figures, as published elsewhere in the columns of The Sea Coast Echo, are interesting in the extreme, to say the least, if analyzed by readers acquainted with the candidates. No doubt they contain surprises and mostly disappointments. Men who aspired to office in many instances received comparatively small votes, this applying particularly in beat offices.

Here is the next Board of Supervisors:

Beat One—Charles Murphy, present president, re-elected.
Beat Two—John Wheat, re-elected.
Beat Three—Calvin Shaw, re-elected.

Beat Four—Lander Necaise, new.
Beat Five—Second run-off between Ed. P. Orte and Claud Monti.
Available figures show that Supervisor T. Ed. Keller lacked only three votes to be in the second run-off. Keller is the present incumbent. An official count by Democratic Executive Committee will be asked by Mr. Keller to catch possible clerical or technical errors.

Who Will Have to Run Over.
For Sheriff—Horace L. Kergosien and Emilio (Dick) Cue.
Supt. of Education—Kenneth G. G. McCarty and Nolan Taconi.

For Supervisor, Beat Five—Ed. P. Orte and Claud Monti.
For Representative—Otho Rester and Robert E. Connor.

For Constable, Beat Five—Gerald Price and Frank Quintini.
For J. P., Beat Five—Alcide Ladner, Henry Fayard. L. B. Capdepone receiving the highest number of votes captures the nomination for one of the two J. Ps. to be elected.

Four participate in the run-off here for reason two justices of the peace are elected for this Beat.
Second primary will take place August 29—three weeks from the first.

The state primary shows Paul Johnson in the lead for governor with a plurality of 20,000 votes over Mike S. Connor second. They will be in the run-off. Gov. White has signified his intention to support Connor. Johnson is supported by Bilbo.

A Member of Local Garden Club Achieves Success in Canning.

The fact that in our gardens right here in Bay St. Louis can be grown many fruits because of our marvelous climate is attested to by the achievement of one of the active members of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club who has succeeded in preparing seventy-one dozen jars of fruits, plums, pears, and forty-five dozen jars of figs from fruits grown on the grounds adjoining her home. With little expense and some effort things of this kind can be accomplished and many of us should try planting fruit trees from which delicious preserves and jellies can be prepared.

Fortunately, although the car was considered a total wreck, none of the three occupants suffered injury.

The limb, in falling, fell across an electric wire, causing a current in that section to be out for several hours.

PERSONALITIES USELESS.

THE attack of John L. Lewis upon Vice-President John N. Garner was undoubtedly personal and intended to be personal.

There is little to be gained by such tactics. Mr. Lewis has a perfect right to dislike the attitudes and public acts of Mr. Garner but the cause he represents will not be helped by denouncing the private habits of the Texan.

A democracy is bound to include men of different views, both as to public and private life. Politics, involves public affairs but where opinion varies as to private acts there is much to be gained by keeping the discussion on the basis of public acts.

The cry of "personalities" is often raised by public officials to screen their official misconduct when opponents attack only their public life. The Lewis assault is of a different type, involving the personal habits of a man in life.

While many Americans don't believe in poker playing or liquor drinking for themselves, they have to associate with other citizens who indulge in these habits. They get along better when the differences between them are not intensified by the injection of personal issues.

MARS VISITS THE WORLD.

THE planet Mars paid the world a visit last week, or, at least, it was only about 36,000,000 miles away. That's explains its appearance out over the Bay that has attracted attention and comment of late.

That is a close distance when two planets are concerned. There would be many complications if something went wrong in the machinery of the universe and the planets wandered haphazardly thru space. They might meet each other, going in opposite directions, and two perfectly good planets would be smashed.

Human beings, under the leadership of astronomers, have attempted to pierce the veil that hangs between present intelligence and the unknown factors of the universe. We have made some progress, but not much.

Imaginative people speculate upon whether Mars is inhabited. It is all right as mental exercise and in time, perhaps the truth will become known. Meanwhile, however, the old world has its own problems that call for all the intelligence of men and women.

BRO. PETER, DIRECTOR S. S. C.

THE return of Bro. Peter as director of St. Stanislaus College, as announced elsewhere in the news columns of The Echo, will be hailed with unanimous acclaim in Bay St. Louis and vicinity and by patrons of the college as well.

No man has made so deep and favorable impression as he. As president and executive director of the college he has vastly increased its enrollment and not only strengthened the reputation it enjoys but extended it to other channels and places.

This community is justly proud of St. Stanislaus College and of the men, who by unselfish devotion, and intelligent and unceasing application have won for the institution place and lasting name.

Bro. Peter will continue the good work and can well rest assured he has the backing of this community and section. His efforts will ever find ready response.

HOW TO SAVE LIVES.

THOUSANDS of persons are killed every year in the United States in automobile accidents.

Many of these accidents could have been avoided if the operators of one of the vehicles involved had practiced some courtesy in driving or had not been in such a hurry to get nowhere in particular.

BE WISE IN THE WATER

DURING this hot August month nearly everybody likes to go in the water. In addition to public bathing on the beaches and at the resorts, water sports attract thousands of people.

Good swimmers drown thru overconfidence. Flippant jesters rock the boat.

It's a good idea for people to know the simple rules that might save their lives. Swimming alone, when over-heated or too early after eating, may be disastrous. It's also a good idea to know the depth of the water. Finally, make it a rule to avoid smart tricks and "showing-off."

NOTHING TO BE GAINED.

CAPTAIN Eddie Rickenbacker, American war ace, proposes that the United States dispatch a fleet of big bombers across the Atlantic ocean to "show the world something."

This is a foolish suggestion, in our opinion. There is nothing to be gained by sending American bombers across the Atlantic.

If our bombers need long distance flying, over foreign areas, let them journey to South America, where their presence will do us more good.

MAJOR IMPROVEMENTS FOR COAST.

NO improvement on the Mississippi Gulf Coast just now tops that in progress along the Harrison county seashore line, in vastness and of significance to the entire gulf coast, including our immediate shore line—the building of a double boulevard drive, initiated immediately east of Gulfport and continuing toward Biloxi.

This will be followed by a similar treatment from Gulfport to Pass Christian. That this will benefit the entire section of the coast is predicted on the assumption of that which benefits on section is of material value to the entire coast, and surely the Bay-Waveland and contiguous line under this reasoning will benefit thereby.

Under the administration of Gov. Hugh L. White Mississippi's Highway Department has initiated its biggest of road programs. It is highly gratifying to note that south Mississippi and our own Gulf Coast has not been omitted.

One can well remember the first coast road, surfaced with oyster shells and later part gravel and dirt. Later broken links were connected with better hardsurfacing and more recently in the unincorporated sections black top was employed, giving a complete hardsurfaced drive from one end of the coast to the other.

This was a vast improvement. But with rapidly increasing traffic, local and through, the beach highway not only proved inadequate in width to carry the heavy demands and soon, as the condition exists today not only is a single roadway too narrow but its surface has become worn and uneven until its smoothness of surface and evenness of foundation has been badly abused by natural wear and tear.

That there will be a double-lane highway along the coastal front of South Mississippi, vast in its conception and in its building, is of import and that in no ordinary sense. As a contribution to the further development of this section and will prove a further inducement to the fast augmenting number of motorists and resident tourists who are coming this way.

Our readers must not lose sight of this outstanding improvement. For the present it tops all others.

BETTER HOUSES TO LIVE IN.

LIVEABLE farm houses can be built in the South for less than $1,400 and in the North for less than $2,500, according to Dr. W. W. Alexander, of the Farm Security Administration, which built 2,785 farm houses last year.

These figures are authenticated by costs of construction in various sections of the nation. They seem to indicate that there is not much excuse for unsightly farm homes and disreputable dwellings anywhere in the United States.

The fact that a dwelling can be constructed for considerably less money in the South than elsewhere does not seem to stimulate building in this section to the extent that it would appear. A house anywhere South, Mississippi for example, may be constructed for almost half of the cost of one north. Better houses, cleaner land and more favorable conditions are inducements without equal. Our own immediate section here on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, offers opportunities for building for less than many other sections even in the South. We enjoy a tremendous example in this land of ours and there should be plenty of new and habitable houses.

Entirely too many old dwellings that mar the scenery and civic mien of the average community. New ones should take their place.

FAIR PARADES TO DRAMATIZE STATE GROWTH.

MISSISSIPPI will celebrate her march of progress with three spectacular parades during the 36th annual Free State Fair to be held in Jackson, October 9-14.

"Parade of Progress" has been adopted as the theme of the 1939 exposition and in keeping with this sentiment, the annual fall festival will be opened on Monday, October 9, with a procession in which the Capital City will dramatize her remarkable growth during the past two decades.

The State of Mississippi will follow suit on Wednesday, October 11, which has been set aside officially by the State Fair as "Mississippi Progress Day." Every department of state will be represented in the long line of march.

The concluding parade of Mississippi's progress exposition will take place on the closing day, Saturday, October 14, when fraternal orders, veterans organizations, and allied groups will stage probably the most colorful of the week's pageants.

The exposition theme, "Parades of Progress," will be carried out in all exhibits and State Fair officials anticipate one of the best exhibitions in Mississippi history.

FARM PROSPERITY NECESSARY.

THE largest market for the products of American industry is to be found on the farms of the United States.

Despite everything that has been done the farmers of the United States have had little of prosperity since the boom days of the war. Since that time they have been busy with droughts, surpluses and deflations. In fact, most of them did not even get in on the so-called Coolidge boom.

It may be considered absurd by some of the economic experts, who tell us what is wrong with everything, but, just the same our idea is that when prosperity hits the farmers of the United States it will hit industry. Every farmer is a potential buyer of the products of industry. There are a lot of them in this country and if they get a little surplus money they will start a buying wave that will make the government's spending program look silly.

A total of 1,981 acres of land in Mississippi has been purchased by the National Forest Service in Washington, and has been added to four National Forests, according to Fred B. Merrill, state forester. The business transaction took in 21 tracts of approved forest land which went to Bienville, DeSoto National Forests, and 10 tracts to Holly Springs and Homochitto National Forests. The National Forest Service now has approximately one million acres of land in the state. The State Forestry Commission has approximately 5,500,000 acres under protection.

I will always reflect on this fine act of the people with the kindness of memory.

It is with deep sincerity, if elected in the second primary, that I promise never to betray the confidence and trust you place in me.

I now ask all those who voted for me to do everything within their power in securing for me additional support in the second primary and I also ask the kind people, which for some good reason or other, voted for other candidates in the first primary, to kindly please give me their support and vote in the coming primary.

Thanking the public again in deepest sincerity, I beg to remain,

Your friend,

On Saturday, August 5, the first session of the 76th Congress came to an end as the gavel of Vice President Garner and Speaker Bankhead banged out a sine de adjournment of one of the most controversial sessions of Congress in recent years. MAISIE, a film produced 5 years ago by Phil Goldstone, has been purchased by Metro in order to keep it from being reissued at the same time their new film of the same name is being shown.

Robert Young replaced Robert Taylor in "Northwest Passage" while Taylor replaced Young in "Remember." Joan Crawford has been taken out of "Remember" and will be replaced by some other actress.

News from France reports that Maurice Chevalier and Eric Von Stroheim are being co-starred in a film. Simone Simon and Corinne Luchaire are sharing honors in another production.

"Enchanted Cottage," post war fantasy which was made in 1922 with Richard Barthelmess and May McAvoy, is to be filmed again with Ginger Rogers in the lead.

Paul Muni will get a six months' leave of absence from the movies so that he can star in Maxwell Anderson's stage play, "Key Largo," next Fall.

Alice Marble, famous tennis player, will try her hand at a movie career. Miss Marble won the Wimbledon cup and her contract with the studio forbids any role as a tennis player in order that her amateur status will not be affected.

George Raft has again signed a contract with Warners and will no longer be seen as a free lance actor. His first picture under the new contract will probably be a remake of "The Patent Leather Kid." Mr. Raft is planning to spend a month in Europe before he starts work.

Cary Grant's house has a new coat of paint and new furniture has been bought. Looks as though he were getting ready for the new Mrs. Grant. And Randolph Scott is getting ready to move out.

PERSONALITIES USELESS.

THE attack of John L. Lewis upon Vice-President John N. Garner was undoubtedly personal and intended to be personal.

There is little to be gained by such tactics. Mr. Lewis has a perfect right to dislike the attitudes and public acts of Mr. Garner but the cause he represents will not be helped by denouncing the private habits of the Texan.

A democracy is bound to include men of different views, both as to public and private life. Politics involves public affairs but where opinion varies as to private acts there is much to be gained by keeping the discussion on the basis of public acts.

The cry of "personalities" is often raised by public officials to screen their official misconduct when opponents attack only their public life. The Lewis assault is of a different type, involving the personal habits of a man in life.

While many Americans don't believe in poker playing or liquor drinking for themselves, they have to associate with other citizens who indulge in these habits. They get along better when the differences between them are not intensified by the injection of personal issues.

MARS VISITS THE WORLD.

THE planet Mars paid the world a visit last week, or, at least, it was only about 36,000,000 miles away. That's explains its appearance out over the Bay that has attracted attention and comment of late.

That is a close distance when two planets are concerned. There would be many complications if something went wrong in the machinery of the universe and the planets wandered haphazardly thru space. They might meet each other, going in opposite directions, and two perfectly good planets would be smashed.

Human beings, under the leadership of astronomers, have attempted to pierce the veil that hangs between present intelligence and the unknown factors of the universe. We have made some progress, but not much.

Imaginative people speculate upon whether Mars is inhabited. It is all right as mental exercise and in time, perhaps, the truth will become known. Meanwhile, however, the old world has its own problems that call for all the intelligence of men and women.

BRO. PETER, DIRECTOR S. S. C.

THE return of Bro. Peter as director of St. Stanislaus College, as announced elsewhere in the news columns of The Echo, will be hailed with unanimous acclaim in Bay St. Louis and vicinity and by patrons of the college as well.

No man has made so deep and favorable impression as he. As president and executive director of the college he has vastly increased its enrollment and not only strengthened the reputation it enjoys but extended it to other channels and places.

This community is justly proud of St. Stanislaus College and of the men, who by unselfish devotion, and intelligent and unceasing application have won for the institution place and lasting name.

Bro. Peter will continue the good work and can well rest assured he has the backing of this community and section. His efforts will ever find ready response.

HOW TO SAVE LIVES.

THOUSANDS of persons are killed every year in the United States in automobile accidents.

Many of these accidents could have been avoided if the operators of one of the vehicles involved had practiced some courtesy in driving or had not been in such a big hurry to get nowhere in particular.

BE WISE IN THE WATER

DURING this hot August month nearly everybody likes to go in the water. In addition to public bathing on the beaches and at the resorts, water sports attract thousands of people.

Good swimmers drown thru overconfidence. Flippant jesters rock the boat.

It's a good idea for people to know the simple rules that might save their lives. Swimming alone, when over-heated or too early after eating, may be disastrous. It's also a good idea to know the depth of the water. Finally, make it a rule to avoid smart tricks and "showing off."

NOTHING TO BE GAINED.

CAPTAIN Eddie Rickenbaker, American war ace, proposes that the United States dispatch a fleet of big bombers across the Atlantic ocean to "show the world something."

This is a foolish suggestion, in our opinion. There is nothing to be gained by sending American bombers across the Atlantic.

If our bombers need long distance flying, over foreign areas, let them journey to South America, where their presence will do us more good.

MAJOR IMPROVEMENTS FOR COAST.

NO improvement on the Mississippi Gulf Coast just now tops that in progress along the Harrison county seashore line, in vastness and of significance to the entire gulf coast, including our immediate shore line—the building of a double boulevard drive, initiated immediately east of Gulfport and continuing toward Biloxi.

This will be followed by a similar treatment from Gulfport to Pass Christian. That this will benefit the entire section of the coast is predicted on the assumption of that which benefits on erection is of material value to the entire coast, and surely the Bay-Waveland and contiguous line under this reasoning will benefit thereby.

Under the administration of Gov. Hugh L. White Mississippi's Highway Department has initiated its biggest of road programs. It is highly gratifying to note that south Mississippi and our own Gulf Coast has not been omitted.

One can well remember the first coast road, surfaced with oyster shells and later part gravel and dirt. Later broken links were connected with better hardsurfacing and more recently in the unincorporated sections black top was employed, giving a complete hardsurfaced drive from one end of the coast to the other.

This was a vast improvement. But with rapidly increasing traffic, local and through, the beach highway not only proved inadequate in width to carry the heavy demands and soon, as the condition exists today not only is a single roadway too narrow but its surface has become worn and uneven until its smoothness of surface and evenness of foundation has been badly abused by natural wear and tear.

That there will be a double-lane highway along the coastal front of South Mississippi, vast in its conception and in its building, is of import and that in no ordinary sense. As a contribution to the further development of this section and will prove a further inducement to the fast augmenting number of motorists and resident tourists who are coming this way.

Our readers must not lose sight of this outstanding improvement. For the present it tops all others.

BETTER HOUSES TO LIVE IN.

LIVEABLE farm houses can be built in the South for less than $1,400 and in the North for less than $2,500, according to Dr. W. W. Alexander, of the Farm Security Administration, which built 2,785 farm houses last year.

These figures are authenticated by costs of construction in various sections of the nation. They seem to indicate that there is not much excuse for unsightly farm homes and disreputable dwellings anywhere in the United States.

The fact that a dwelling can be constructed for considerably less money in the South than elsewhere does not seem to stimulate building in this section to the extent that it would appear. A house anywhere South, Mississippi for example, may be constructed for almost half of the cost of one north. Better houses, cleaner land and more favorable conditions are inducements without equal.

Our own immediate section here on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, offers opportunities for building for less than many other sections even in the South. We enjoy a tremendous example in this land of ours and there should be plenty of new and habitable houses. Entirely too many old dwellings that mar the scenery and civic mien of the average community. New ones should take their place.

FAIR PARADES TO DRAMATIZE STATE GROWTH.

MISSISSIPPI will celebrate her march of progress with three spectacular parades during the 36th annual Free State Fair to be held in Jackson, October 9-14.

"Parade of Progress" has been adopted as the theme of the 1939 exposition and in keeping with this sentiment, the annual fall festival will be opened on Monday, October 9, with a procession in which the Capital City will dramatize her remarkable growth during the past two decades.

The State of Mississippi will follow suit on Wednesday, October 11, which has been set aside officially by the State Fair as "Mississippi Progress Day." Every department of state will be represented in the long line of march.

The concluding parade of Mississippi's progress exposition will take place on the closing day, Saturday, October 14, when fraternal orders, veterans organizations, and allied groups will stage probably the most colorful of the week's pageants.

The exposition theme, "Parades of Progress," will be carried out in all exhibits and State Fair officials anticipate one of the best exhibitions in Mississippi history.

FARM PROSPERITY NECESSARY.

THE largest market for the products of American industry is to be found on the farms of the United States.

Despite everything that has been done the farmers of the United States have had little of prosperity since the boom days of the war. Since that time they have been busy with droughts, surpluses and deflations. In fact, most of them did not even get in on the so-called Coolidge boom.

It may be considered absurd by some of the economic experts, who tell us what is wrong with everything, but, just the same our idea is that when prosperity hits the farmers of the United States it will hit industry. Every farmer is a potential buyer of the products of industry. There are a lot of them in this country and if they get a little surplus money they will start a buying wave that will make the government's spending program look silly.

A total of 1,981 acres of land in Mississippi has been purchased by the National Forest Service in Washington, and has been added to four National Forests, according to Fred B. Merrill, state forester. The business transaction took in 21 tracts of approved forest land which went to Bienville, DeSoto National Forests, and 10 tracts to Holly Springs and Homochitto National Forests. The National Forest Service now has approximately one million acres of land in the state. The State Forestry Commission has approximately 5,500,000 acres under protection.

Adjournment

On Saturday, August 5, the first session of the 76th Congress came to an end as the gavel of Vice President Garner and Speaker Bankhead hanged out a sine de adjournment of one of the most controversial sessions of Congress in recent years. Certainly it has been the least harmonious Congress since the advent of President Roosevelt and his New Deal program. However, this is nothing new in the history of the Congress and the Presidents. The President has willed to continue the program of bringing about recovery and prosperity through the method of huge governmental expenditures. He has maintained that the emergency conditions of 1931, 1932 and 1933 still exists and that the cure therefor is continued public expenditures. The Congress has been inclined on the other hand for the past two years or more to the view that this would not do the job and would in fact bring about worse conditions if continued. The recent session has shown a more marked determination of the Members of Congress to tighten the brakes and curtail the spending program. This was demonstrated most prominently in the fact that the Congress rather reluctantly gave the President the approximate four billion dollars that he requested for a continuation of W. P. A. for the past two years. But when the President asked for another $3,800,000,000 for the spending-lending program, plus an additional $3,500,000,000 for a continuation of the United States Housing Authority for the purpose of slum clearance the Congress balked.

Social Security

Lost in the shuffle was the so-called Connally Amendment. This was a modification in the Senate of the Colmer Amendment offered in the House. The Connally Amendment provided that the Federal Government would pay $10.00 for the first $5.00 that the States put up for pensions to the aged needy. This would have meant a substantial increase for the poorer states. It would have meant about a $15.00 pension for the aged needy of Mississippi. But the conferees of the Senate and House could not agree in spite of the noble efforts of Senators Harrison and Connally, who sponsored the amendment in the Senate.

This puts the pension matter back where it was, requiring the states to match dollar for dollar the amount that the Federal Government puts up. Our prediction is that the amendment will be adopted at the next session of Congress.

Final Letter

In accordance with our previous custom for the past several years, this letter concludes this column until Congress convenes again in January, unless a special session should be called. We hope that through this method we may have contributed something to your knowledge of what is going on in your chief law making body.

Tyrone Power, Alice Faye, Al Jolson, Star in Smash Hit at A. & G.

A glorious evening's entertainment awaits you at the A. & G. Theater in "Rose of Washington Square, Sunday and Monday.

Tyrone Power and Alice Faye, the romantic stars of Irving Berlin's "Alexander's Ragtime Band," are co-starring with Al Jolson, singing again in his inimitable way his memory-laden song hits of yesterday.

The story of a woman who loved her man and kept on loving him after he tricked her and hurt her and brought heart-break upon them both is thrillingly told in the mile-stones of melody of the last two decades.

"Rose of Washington Square" opens at the close of the World War with Jolson as Ted Cotter, a singing candy butcher in a Fourteenth Street burlesque theater, who has big-time ideas. He loves Rose Sargent (Alice Faye) and dreams of taking her with him up the ladder to fame. But Rose falls for Bart Clinton, a charming but wayward fellow, played by Tyrone Power.

The film traces Ted's rise to dizzy heights of stardom at the famous Winter Garden and gives Jolson an opportunity to sing again the hit songs he made famous. Rose, meanwhile, becomes a star of the Follies. At the height of her fame, Bart brings disgrace upon her, but her love for him never wavers.

brought up the question of which Mississippi town claims Jimmie Fidler, the well-known Hollywood columnist and radio commentator. Take note, Mr. Wood:

Jimmie Fidler, known as Marion in our town, came to Brookhaven at the age of two and lived here for several years. His father, W. P. Fidler, was a tobacco salesman of charm and ability and his mother a lady of refinement. During those five years Marion and his parents lived in the homes of Misses Maggie and Anna Middleton and Mrs. Joe Storm and kept house where Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McCormick now live.

Many Brookhaven friends will remember Marion and his little white poodle, "Chubby." Both Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Johnson remember him as a childhood playmate and Mrs. Arthur Middleton still corresponds with his mother. A recent letter from her told of the beautiful home Marion built for her in Burbank, California.

Jimmie, according to a recent magazine article, is now the most successful of Hollywood writers with his syndicated newspaper articles and nationwide radio broadcasts. He makes some $200,000 a year and is considered the most powerful of the commentators with his judgment and criticisms being followed dutifully.

With The Press*OLD AGE PENSIONS.

(Picaune Weekly Item.)

IN principle, we are opposed to old age pensions, however, there are isolated cases where old people must necessarily become the wards of the government or some other organization and it would be impossible to care for these rare cases and keep the peace, therefore, we must accept old age relief as applicable to all old people.

If fathers and mothers make the necessary sacrifices for their children, which we feel it our duty to make, we should think our children ingrates if the worst sort if they should shirk their duty when we could no longer so much as care for ourselves, and dump us off on charity.

If we must have old age relief, and, we reluctantly grant we must have it, let us warn the voters against promises of candidates for office to favor unreasonable amounts. Some candidates say they are in favor of $30.00 per month for old age. We think it is a reflection on the intelligence of the voters for a candidate to make such a promise and expect them to believe it. The sales tax is now our largest revenue-producing tax, and is now a little more than six million dollars annually. People howl about paying sales taxes. We do it ourselves. If old age pensions were paid the 77,443 old people in Mississippi, it would cost almost twenty-eight million dollars annually. Where would the money come from?

For poor states like Mississippi, we believe the Connally Amendment the most practical.

DURING these hot days it is a relief to have a meal that requires the minimum of preparation on the part of the housekeeper. Such a meal should be served on the beach, the mountains, the old swimming hole or, out on the lawn in the back yard, whichever is most convenient. Don't strip the occasion of all its fun by elaborate preparation, either pack a lunch or have a camp-fire meal.
